“Building for the Future – Change from Within”

HIGH LEVEL ACTION PLAN FOR THE REPORT OF THE COMMISSION
ON THE DEFENCE FORCES

Background

The Commission on the Defence Forces was established on foot of a commitment in the Programme for Government and the Government decision in December 2020 which also agreed its terms of reference and membership. The Commission published its report on the 9th February 2022.

The Commission undertook a significant body of work on the future of the Defence Forces, encompassing their wide-ranging terms of reference, having regard to immediate requirements while also seeking to develop a longer-term vision for beyond 2030. The report contains 69 main recommendations and together with sub recommendations, comprises 130 recommendations in total¹.

These recommendations were guided and informed by existing government policy, namely, the White Paper on Defence 2015 and the White Paper on Defence Update 2019. The Commission's terms of reference included consideration of appropriate capabilities, structures and staffing for the Army, the Air Corps and the Naval Service.

The report proposes significant changes for the Defence Forces, including to Defence Forces' culture, high-level command and control structures, HR and staffing and for the level of Defence provision in Ireland.

The Commission noted that the relatively high levels of ambition for Ireland's military capabilities, as set out in the White Paper, are not supported by the resources provided for the Defence Forces. This led the Commission to conclude that there is a disconnect between stated policy, resources and capabilities. The Commission identified an urgent need for clarification of the level of ambition for the roles of the Defence Forces.

¹ The Report of the Commission on the Defence Forces recommendations and sub recommendations 1-69 have been renumbered 1-130 to comprehensively reflect each individual recommendation as part of this High Level Action Plan. Each of these recommendations 1-130 are cross referenced with the original recommendation numbers from the Report of the Commission on the Defence Forces, 1-69, in Annex 1.

In the absence of such clarity, the Commission created a framework focused around three tiers of level of ambition (LOA). These three tiers, which the Commission used to frame the capability requirements for a 21st century Defence Forces, although not exhaustive acted as a guide for the Commission’s own deliberations. The three tiers of LOA are:

LOA 1 current capability	Aiming to uphold sovereign rights and serving on peace support operations to the same extent as at present.
LOA 2 enhanced capability	Building on current capability to address specific priority gaps in our ability to deal with an assault on Irish sovereignty and to serve in higher intensity Peace Support Operations.
LOA 3 conventional capability	Developing full spectrum defence capabilities to protect Ireland and its people to an extent comparable to similar sized countries in Europe.

Government Response to the Report

The Government has approved a decision to move to Level of Ambition 2 (LOA2) over a six year period to 2028. This will result in the Defence budget rising to €1.5 billion, in 2022 prices, by 2028, the largest increase in Defence funding in the history of the State. In addition, the move to LOA2 will require an additional 2,000 personnel (civil and military) over and above the current establishment of 9,500. The Commission recognised that any proposal to move to LOA3 could only be considered in the context of a step-up, in the first instance, to LOA2 and following a comprehensive review of Ireland's defence policy.

For specific capabilities recommended under each LOA, the Commission highlighted that appropriate examination by defence planners, of those capabilities specified within the report, would be required to develop detailed specifications, assess value for money and consider whether the same effect can be more effectively delivered by different means. The Commission also recognised that significant infrastructure development would be required to support some of the capability enhancements considered.

Government has also noted that, in light of the Commission's report, there is an urgent need for HR and cultural transformation in the Defence Forces and this will be prioritised. This High Level Action Plan identifies the recruitment, through an open process, for the new senior-level civilian positions of Head of Transformation and Head of Strategic HR for the Defence Forces as early actions required to progress this transformation.

This High Level Action Plan sets out the response of Government in relation to each recommendation: Accept, Accept in Principle, Further Evaluation or Revert. The 130 recommendations are grouped under five core areas (strategic objectives) with associated themes, underpinned by a number of key enablers to drive an ambitious transformation programme required to meet LOA2 by 2028.

A number of early actions for the six month period July 2022 – Dec 2022 are set out in this High Level Action Plan (see section 8 below).

Response to Recommendations

Upon publication of the Report of the Commission on the Defence Forces, a process to allow for detailed consideration of the significant recommendations contained in the report commenced. This process involved significant internal discussions, both within the Defence Forces and the Department of Defence and jointly, inter-departmental consultation, consideration of the views of key stakeholders and engagement with Government Ministers. Each of the 130 recommendations, which are set out in Annex 1, has been designated a response of Accept, Accept in Principle, Further Evaluation or Revert, under the following definitions:

Accept	Accept In Principle	Further Evaluation	Revert
Recommendation accepted for implementation.	This recommendation is accepted in principle, but further consideration is required on the optimal approach to meeting the intent of the Commission.	This recommendation is desirable. Further evaluation is required with key stakeholders, of the resource, policy, financial and legislative implications before a decision on implementation can be considered.	It is proposed to revert to Government at a later stage with regard to this recommendation.

NOTE: The recommendations from the Commission include many that are complex in nature, have potential legislative changes and may require significant time to fully implement. For example, it is the Minister’s intention to revert to Government on the proposed changes to the Defence Forces’ structures and, in particular, the reform of high-level Command and Control of the Defence Forces. This includes the creation of a Chief of Defence (CHOD), supported by a Vice CHOD, with the appropriate military Command and Control authority of the Defence Forces. Legal advice has been sought from the Attorney General. Clarification of the Minister’s role and the future role of the Department of Defence may be required following receipt of that advice.

The Minister favours implementation of these four recommendations (recommendations 2, 3, 4, and 5 Annex 1), subject to the advice from the Attorney General on any potential Constitutional and legal implications.

Resources and Key Appointments

Additional resources for both the Defence Forces and the Department of Defence are required to progress the implementation of the recommendations. The appointment of a number of key roles in the Defence Forces will be initiated immediately, including:

- » a civilian Head of Transformation reporting directly to the Chief of Staff
- » a civilian Head of Strategic HR reporting directly to the Chief of Staff
- » a Gender Advisor reporting directly to the Chief of Staff
- » a Digital Transformation Officer to lead a digital transformation programme working under the Head of Transformation

It is also intended to establish immediately an Office of Reserve Affairs and a Capability Development Branch (civil-military).

The additional resources required by the Department and the Defence Forces will play a critical role as part of an overall transformation programme.

Initial implementation and oversight structures for the transformation programme are set out in section 6.

5.

Five Core Areas and Associated Strategic Objectives:

Five Core Areas and Associated Strategic Objectives
The Commission's report highlighted five core areas that must be addressed in a detailed implementation plan on foot of policy decisions in relation to level of ambition and budget:
Transformational change to modernise the Organisational Culture, its Human Resources Strategy and practices	Reform High-level Command and Control and creation of a Joint Strategic Headquarters	Reform and Restructure the Services	Revitalise the Reserve Defence Force	Joint Capability Development
Putting human resources – the Defence Forces' people – at the centre of the organisation, through re-engaging in a different way with its core values, renewing its 'contract' with its people with modern work practices, career management systems and transparent promotion systems based on merit.	Requires the appointment of a Chief of Defence (CHOD), with full command and control of the Defence Forces, and commensurate accountability, supported by three Service Chiefs. Create a Joint Strategic Headquarters staffed by all services, including civilian experts, to support the Chief of Defence in delivering Defence Forces 2030+.	To provide a modern Army, Navy and Air Force designed and structured to provide the future integrated force for national defence, overseas missions and ATCP/ATCA.	To create a reserve force that can seamlessly train, operate and deploy with the Permanent Defence Force, nationally and internationally.	To support all Services in developing the joint future force, thereby providing Government with military force options at readiness for national and international operations.

These five core areas are now captured as five Strategic Objectives, which are:
Strategic HR & Cultural Change to be delivered	New C2 and Joint Structures to be established	Services to be reformed & restructured	Reserve Defence Force to be revitalised	Joint Capability Development to be Implemented

In addition to the five Strategic Objectives, a separate enabling workstream captures the necessary building blocks required for implementation of many of the recommendations within the report. All 130 recommendations have been grouped under a number of themes under the relevant strategic objective and enabling workstream headings as follows:

Initial Implementation and Oversight Structures

Initial implementation and oversight structures are set out below.

Government have noted that the Minister for Defence will establish a High-Level Steering Board, chaired by the Secretary General of the Department of the Taoiseach, to oversee the implementation of the Report of the Commission on the Defence Forces as approved by Government. In addition to supporting and guiding the implementation, the Board will also act as a clearing house for issues that cannot be resolved or where particular blockages are being experienced in the implementation of the Commission's recommendations. The Minister will provide an update to Government and to the Oireachtas on an annual basis on the implementation of the report's recommendations.

An independently chaired Implementation Oversight Group will be established to oversee and drive progress in relation to the implementation of the recommendations of the Commission.

A civil/military Implementation Management Office will support the implementation of the overall transformation programme required to implement recommendations from the report of the Commission on the Defence Forces. Initially the Implementation Management Office will focus on the implementation of the early actions as set out in Section 8.

The development of a detailed implementation plan within six months of the Government decision to move to LOA2 is a key early action set out in Section 8. This detailed implementation plan will set out recommendations to be delivered over the short, medium and long term.

The Implementation Management Office will monitor and report on actions against set timeframes for the early actions and the detailed implementation plan. The office will also monitor and report on the implementation of the White Paper on Defence (2015) and the subsequent White Paper Update (2019).

The existing management structures within the Defence Forces and the Department of Defence, led by the Chief of Staff and the Secretary General, through the Senior Management Committee (SMC) will drive the transformation internally.

Progress reports will be provided internally on a quarterly basis and published externally on an annual basis.

	15	Within the context of a decision being taken by Government that the capability requirements of the Defence Forces need to step up to LOA 3, the following is recommended:
101		By 2040 the Infantry element of the Army would have a substantial mechanised component offering state of the art force protection, communications, ISTAR and firepower. All Infantry units would have full organic lift capability, ideally mechanised. Combat Support elements would be modernised, with both Artillery regiments and Cavalry squadrons being fully interoperable to NATO standards, and the land force would have the appropriate level of combat service support elements;	Revert ⁵
102		By 2040 the Naval Service would comprise a balanced fleet of at least 12 ships, supported by appropriate technology, as part of a joint Defence Forces structure;	Revert ⁵
103		As part of a national Air Defence Plan, the Air Corps would develop an air combat and intercept capability through the acquisition of a squadron of jet combat aircraft, allied to the development of associated operational, infrastructure and support arrangements;	Revert ⁵
104		The overseas deployment of combat aircraft, pilots and support personnel to provide organic intra-theatre mobility based on tactical transport helicopters. Deployed forces would also have an organic helicopter combat SAR capability armed and equipped to operate in hostile environments;	Revert ⁵
105		A further 200 additional specialist personnel working under a matured Joint Cyber Defence Command; and	Revert ⁵
106		ARW/SOF would have an organic self-sustainment capability, which would include dedicated combat helicopter assets to insert, operate and extract from mission areas.	Revert ⁵
	18	That jointness be inculcated throughout the Defence Forces by:
107		Prioritising training institutions, with an emphasis on routine joint exercises to prove future force operational capabilities for national defence and overseas operations.	Accept
108		The introduction of joint operational and leadership training courses at junior and senior level for both officers and NCOs.	Accept
